

Loving You Gets Hard

Alexander 23

You run away right when things get bad
I pretend nothing can make me sad
And I don't know what is worse
Is it running or pretending that there's nothing to run from?

You turn away right when I get mad
I see the tears the you're holding back
And I don't know what is worse
Is it crying or pretending that there's nothing to cry for?

Slow down and hurry up, let's get some air
You can't get lost on your way to nowhere

When loving you gets hard
I will love you harder
I knew it from the start
That your love would be hard earned, baby

Trust your love is good for me
And I will love you equally
When loving you gets hard
I will love you harder, baby

You tell me lies when the truth is hard
I see the light where you say it's dark
And I don't know what is worse
Is it hiding or pretending that there's nothing to hide from?

You feel the rain on a sunny day (Sunny day)
I sit and burn just to feel the pain (Feel the pain)
And I don't know what is worse
Is it living or pretending that there's nothing to live for?

Slow down and hurry up, let's get some air
You can't get lost on your way to nowhere

When loving you gets hard
I will love you harder
I knew it from the start
That your love would be hard earned, baby

Trust your love is good for me
And I will love you equally
When loving you gets hard
I will love you harder, baby

When loving you gets hard
I will love you harder
I knew it from the start
That your love would be hard earned, baby

When loving you gets hard
I will love you harder
I knew it from the start
That your love would be hard earned, baby

Trust your love is good for me

And I will love you equally
When loving you gets hard
I will love you harder, baby
