

Faces

Alexander Oscar

Yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah
That's cool, that's cool, man

At that subway station
People are waitin'
No conversation
They all actin' busy
Lookin' at phone screens
No one's engagin'

So I say, "Hey, what's your name?
Can I get it again? I'm not good with names
And I wanna remember you"
I'm sorry to say it
But you're all missing out

If you don't talk to these faces (faces, faces)
You might find a lover or a friend
Among these faces (faces, faces)
To help you around when you're so drunk you can't stand

I know it's easier to do nothin'
Than to find someone to start talkin'
Maybe we should all try
Try to start with something like

"Hey, what's your name?
Can I get it again? I'm not good with names
And I wanna remember you"
I'm sorry to say it
But you're all missing out

If you don't talk to these faces (faces, faces)
You might find a lover or a friend
Among these faces (faces, faces)
To help you around when you're so drunk you can't stand

They might be among the faces that we already judged
The faces we know nothin' about
The faces that we already judged
Might be a lover or a friend (Yeah)

I got things on my mind
I would like to get to know you, yeah... yeah
You got things of your own
I can see you want to share them, yeah

'Cause we're much more than faces (faces, faces) oh no, no
You might find a lover or a friend
Among these faces (faces, faces)
To help you around, when you're so drunk you can't stand

They might be among the faces that we already judged (We already judged)
The faces we know nothing about
The faces that we already judged (Ooh)
Might be a lover or a friend

Oh, faces (faces, faces), oh
Yeah, yeah
(Faces) faces (faces, faces)
Oh, oh
