

Compare Myself

Alexander Stewart

Tell me why its so fucking hard
I'm on top of the world until I start
To Compare Myself
To somebody else

Oh you know the Internet
It's like the black plague
Yeah it's a disease
Spreading on a rampage
I'm right in the thick of it
Getting really sick of it

And we are just out here
Not sure how we should feel
When all we're ever seeing
Is someone else's highlight reel
Mental health is kinda shot
Getting in my head a lot

Tell me why its so fucking hard
I'm on top of the world until I start
To Compare Myself
To somebody else

You know me I'm like pretty great
So it makes no sense it's such a waste
To Compare Myself
To somebody else

I'm just being human though
Not making no excuses no
Deep down I know the truth is
There's no one else like me
So why do I ever Compare Myself, Oh
Why do I ever Compare Myself, Oh

I get so caught up on Everything I don't have
Everyone that I'm not
Starts to make me so mad
Don't know why I'm doing this
Stealing my own happiness

I hate how much that I care
Honestly I'm just scared
Staying up at night
Thinking will I ever get there, oh
Will I ever get there

I'm just being human though
Not making no excuses no
Deep down I know the truth is
There's no one else like me
So why do I ever Compare Myself, Oh
Why do I ever Compare Myself, Oh

Tell me why its so fucking hard

I'm on top of the world until I start
To Compare Myself
To somebody else

You know me I'm like pretty great
So it makes no sense it's such a waste
To Compare Myself

So why do I ever Compare Myself, Oh
Why do I ever Compare Myself, Oh