

Echo

Alexander Stewart

You don't take responsibility for holding on to my heart the way you do
And you know I wear mine out on my sleeve, but what else can you expect me to do

If you don't end it
When it's over
Could you leave me
Leave me lonely
Cause when you break me
You break me slowly
You're not here but you still holding me

If you don't stop calling then I can't let go
When you're drunk and saying that you need me close
Please don't keep me haunted by your ghost
When you leave me all I hear is your echo

Oh oh
Your echo
Oh oh
Your echo

Hold on to the possibility that you and me could turn into us
Cause every time we break it's never clean and that's a death by a thousand cuts

If you don't end it
When it's over
Could you leave me
Leave me lonely
Cause when you break me
You break me slowly
You're not here but you still holding me

If you don't stop calling then I can't let go
When you're drunk and saying that you need me close
Please don't keep me haunted by your ghost
When you leave me all I hear is your echo

Oh oh
Your echo
Oh oh
Your echo

In my head
In my heart
In my body and my mind
It echoes
In my bed
I'm a wreck
And I'm trying to forget
The echo

If you don't stop calling then I can't let go
When you're drunk and saying that you need me close
Please don't keep me haunted by your ghost
When you leave me all I hear is

If you don't stop calling then I can't let go
When you're drunk and saying that you need me close
Please don't keep me haunted by your ghost
When you leave me all I hear is your echo

Oh oh
Your echo
Oh oh
Your echo
Oh oh
Your echo