

Let Me In

Alexander Stewart

Hammer the wall one brick would fall
Words in your head that you won't say at all
Is it my fault?
You never call
Pulling at threads while you push and break

Sorry, do you even want me
Three months, two bodies
Look at how you got me you got me like damn
Hammer the wall
It's getting cold outside

Would it kill you just to let me in sometimes?
'Cause it hurts when I try to read your mind
Would it kill you just to pick a fight
Make me cry every night
If it means that you just fucking cared
Baby, let me in sometimes

Would it kill you just to let me in sometimes?

Should I give up?
Fall out of touch
Blame it on timing and distance and trust
But this ain't the kinda love, no it's not enough
No I didn't want it but it found me anyway

Would it kill you just to let me in sometimes?
'Cause it hurts when I try to read your mind
Would it kill you just to pick a fight
Make me cry every night
If it means that you just fucking cared
Baby, let me in sometimes

Would it kill you just to say you'll be everything
Anything that I need, die for me
'Cause I'm bleeding out
If we're going down, sink or swim
Drive my car off a bridge on the edge
So just tell me now

Would it kill you just to let me in sometimes?
'Cause it hurts when I try to read your mind
Would it kill you just to pick a fight
Make me cry every night
If it means that you just fucking cared
Baby, let me in sometimes

Would it kill you just to let me in sometimes?
