

Need You More

Alexander Stewart

I picked up your call while I was driving on the way home
You didn't have to say a word I knew something was wrong
Slam the brakes, lean my head on the window
You promised me you'll be okay that I gotta be strong
But what do I say when my words can't fix it?
It's out of my hands but I can't let go

What do I do when it's you I'm missing
I can't do this alone
Oh, oh

I'm up all night
Asking God, "why?"
He wants to take you when I need you more
I'm screaming out
Up to the sky
I'm still too young to do this on my own

You're smiling through the pain but I know you're hurting
Praying 'til I can't no more
Nobody deserves this
Who gets to choose who stays and who goes?
I wish I could know, God I'm losing hope

What do I do when it's you I'm missing
And all my tears won't bring you home

I'm up all night
Asking God, "why?"
He wants to take you when I need you more
I'm screaming out
Up to the sky
I'm still too young to do this on my own

Oh-yeah, all the places we have left to go
Oh-yeah, I know there's reasons out of my control
I'm up all night
Asking God, "why?"
He wants to take you when I need you more-oh
More
I need you, I need you more
More
I need you, I need you

I'm up all night
Asking God, "why?"
He wants to take you when I need you more
I'm screaming out
Up to the sky
I'm still too young to do this on my own
