

Remember Me

Alffy Rev

When the sunlight slowly starts to drown
The morning clouds will be remembered
When the laughter slowly starts to fade
The memories will last forever

I'm telling the moonlight
The reason I am here
I wrote all the words, and I will let you know

I see you in everything
In every light at starry nights
In every peace on rainy days

I see you in everything
In every hope for you and me
No matter where you are, cause I will be right there

(Remember me wherever you are)

In every hope for you and me
No matter where you are, cause I will be right there

When the summer slowly starts to go
The sunny days will be remembered
When the longing slowly starts to fade
Our memories will last forever

I see you in everything
In every light at starry nights
In every peace on rainy days

I see you in everything
In every hope for you and me
No matter where you are, cause I will be right there

No matter where you are, cause I will be right there
Cause I will be right there

(Remember me wherever you are)

No matter where you are, cause I will be right there
Cause I will be right there
