

Comment #2

Algiers

"For whatever reason, if you want to engage with communities of color, it is so centralized on suffering, pain, oppression. But we're not fucking suffering. The fact that you can't imagine that we have lives that are full of joy, that are full of complexity, that are full of actual hopefulness and resiliency in the face of all this fucked up shit is just further why you think of we're Other and not human."