

Hero

Alice Merton

Sometimes I wish I was
The Hero in your story
I'd save you, from yourself
And sometimes I wish
I could take something
A little bit stronger
To drown you out
Were you ever happy?
Or did I read you all wrong?
Were you still in mending
While I loved you lights on Lights on, lights on, lights on

All this time
I've been wasting my mind
I've been wasting my mind
All this time
I've been wasting my mind
I've been wasting my mind

Sometimes I wish I was
The hero in your story
I'd save you from yourself
You're keeping a straight face
So what am I to do?
And when you look in the mirror
Am I still looking at you?
Taking my all
You were drowning us dead
Cause ever since the fall
You've been hiding what you meant
And I wish I saw all the doubt that you felt
Cause now you're out
Now you're out

All this time
I've been wasting my mind
I've been wasting my mind
All this time
I've been wasting my mind
I've been wasting my mind
All this time
I've been wasting my mind
I've been wasting my mind
All this time
I've been wasting my mind
I've been wasting my mind

Sometimes I wish I was
The hero in your story
I'd save you from yourself
And sometimes I wish
I could take something
A little bit stronger
To drown you out