

how well do you know your feelings?

Alice Merton

Closin' time, we throw it back, throw it all back again
You got the kindest, but you're fallin', you're spiralin' (And I)

And I ask you with a wonder smile
Yeah, I ask you without tryin' to pry
Oh, I ask you
The question of all the questions
Oh-oh-oh

How well do you know your feelings?
How well do you know yourself at all
How well do you know your feelings?
How well do you know yourself?
'Cause when you hide your scars, you hide your heart away (Oh)
And when lie down in the dark, nobody knows what to say (Oh, knows what to say)

Back on the road, you're missin' home, and you're still missin' them
You've got your skin in the game, but your head's lost, you're not listenin'

And they ask you with a worried smile
And they ask you, without tryin' to prey
Oh, they ask you
The question of all the questions
Oh-oh-oh

How well do you know your feelings?
How well do you know yourself at all
How well do you know your feelings?
How well do you know yourself?
'Cause when you hide your scars, you hide your heart away (Oh)
And when lie down in the dark, nobody knows what to say (Oh, knows what to say)

How well do you know your feelings?
How well do you know yourself at all
How well do you know your feelings?
How well do you know yourself at all?
How well do you know your feelings?
How well do you know yourself at all?
How well do you know your feelings?
How well do you know yourself at all?