

In the strife that doesn't end, life opens it's curtains now
Love connects people; the sky, without loving them... *

The world was noisy, the pace thrown out of order
In the deep paleness, the universe doesn't give me breath

Someday, I'll meet you, even if the curtains of the dream are closed Because I want to be in the light that gently enfolds me

The consciousness crosses ground level, words are going towards where you are
With this powerless singing voice, who can save me?

In the centre of the light, if we're able to embrace Our hearts leave our bodies, I want them to melt together, for eternity

It's a promise, forever, I won't go far away
Even if my hand has left, it's because we're linked, wherever we go

In the contours of this world, I found tenderness.

In the centre of the light, the musical notes are playing
At all times, I've been by your side, for you whom I love
The dream, the past, the days that were passed, the rain, the clouds, and that rainbow after

Love connects people; the sky, without loving them...
The swirl of emotion that doesn't end; life opens it's curtains
now