Kei hea te taniwha?
Ko wai te rangatira?
Ko Tītokowaru!

Where is the spirit?
Where is the monster?
Who is the chief?
It's Tītokowaru!

I crave the flesh of the white man
The death of your soldier goading you
Come here to your demise, my friend
I am Tītokowaru
Come here to your demise, my friend
I am Tītokowaru

I shall not die
I shall not die
When death itself is dead
I shall be alive

I am the puppeteer
You attempt to steal our land
Your efforts in battle are feeble
Tītokowaru the insurgent!

Tītokowaru the insurgent!

To Puano and the others. A word for you. Cease travelling on the roads cease going on the roads which lead to Mangamanga (Waihī), lest you be left on the roads as food for the birds of the air and for the beasts of the field, or for me because I have eaten the European, as beef, he was cooked in a pot the women and children partook of the food. I have begun to eat human flesh, and my throat constantly craves for the flesh of man. I shall not die I shall not die. When death itself is dead I shall be alive. I shall live forever. You all too shall live if you leave Matangārara. These are my faithful words to you all throughout your many regions. I end here.

I shall not die
I shall not die
When death itself is dead
I shall be alive
