

Row

Alisa Turner

I knew you weren't doing very well today
And somehow I knew you'd be here
I'll sit on the rocks of the shore as you row
There's no place that I need to go

Row row row row
Row your boat

The way you swipe through waters run deep
I can tell you're still hurting

Find the rhythms of the river
Hear the secrets of the trees
Let the birds put your pain to melody

And row row row row
Row your boat

And I'll stay right here, to know you're ok
You won't even know I came
Go run the river wild, like you use to as a child
On this great adventure called life

Row your boat
