

Worn So Thin

Alkaline Trio

I'll start out fresh
A brand new beginning
It goes like this so I
Never finish anything
And all of this was totally worthless
If I get through a week or two, or let's just say a year or so
'Cause that's the way these days seem to go and go
And I just feel so helpless

Don't tell me to just calm down
Now there's a shortcut right under my skin
And all I want is to freak out
But my apologies are worn so thin

(Hey!)

I'm sorry friend
With all these fucking problems, I should pay you rent
Doors are open in the cell block of my filthy head
And these days I smoke less

Don't tell me to just calm down
Now there's a shortcut right under my skin
And all I want is to freak out
But my apologies are worn so thin
Yeah, that's a quality I've worn so thin

When we empty out like paper cups
Yeah, parking lot, it's hard
To feel like anything but garbage, wasted
Now we empty out (empty out)
And we empty out (empty out)
Until there's nothing left (nothing left)
'Til there's nothing left (nothing left)

Don't tell me to just calm down
Now there's a shortcut right under my skin
And all I want is to freak out
But my apologies are worn so thin

Don't tell me to just calm down
Now there's a shortcut right under my skin
And all I want is to freak out
But my apologies are worn so thin
Yeah, that's a quality I've worn so thin
