

When You Cry

All We Are

You and I, we're like a memory
Constant, colorblind, carefree
There was a time, there was a time, there was a time
Oh, that you weren't the last, you weren't the last
Now you're the last, I swear it

And when you're holding yourself
I'll hold you for the rest of it
And when you fall right down
I'll be there for the second round
Oh, and if you cry, if you cry all night, all night
Just remember there is someone always by your side

You and I, we're like the ocean
Mapped out, detailed, deep and wide
And I swear there was a time, there was a time, there was a time
You were not mine, you were not mine
Now you are mine, and I swear it

That when you're holding yourself
I'll hold you for the rest of it
And when you fall right down
I'll be there for the second round
Oh, and if you cry, if you cry all night, all night
Just remember there is someone always by your side

And don't you worry 'bout the end, there's nothing else there
Just don't hurry like my brother who's already made it
And when you cry, when you cry, when you cry all night
Just remember there is someone always by your side
Just remember there is someone always by your side