

Recurring

Allah-Las

So tell me where you've been
I've been searching for a long time
I don't know where to begin
And I've fallen so far behind
If you can only see me through
You know I just can't help but wonder
A reflection that's so true
I'd never trade it for another

If life's a shining jewel
To what do I owe elation?
I think I know the golden rule
But it gets lost in translation
So tell me how to feel
Should I worry that I've done wrong?
Cause I don't know how to deal
And nothing ever lasts too long

It doesn't matter where I am
I could be searching to no end
But if I'm lucky, I just might find
You at the perfect time

Soul searching
Soul searching
Soul searching
Soul searching
Soul searching
Soul searching
Soul searching
Soul searching