Allday

And a little bit of sun just what the doctor ordered

And I will set me free

And I will find my pain files and press delete

And I will say something nice or I will never speak

And I should have never called you beep beep or beep

And I will take my lumps

And I will leave on purpose and come by chance

I will be the clean glass, I won't be the smudge

Grow old like a tree and water all my plants

And I will be open like a Boston bar

And I will be open like a Boston "r"

I'm at the corner store yeah I'm somewhere awful far

You could have been kind but it's whatever

And I will sink in the ground and the walls here

And I will work with the light when it falls here

Help you out of a jam if you need it

But you won't need it

You in the pool splash

That's what I'll see when I look back

Your mum's A/C was colder than a polar ice cap

I do recall that (call that)

You in the pool splash

That's what I'll see when I look back

You in the pool splash

You in the pool splash

And a little bit of sun just what the doctor ordered
And a little bit of sun just what the doctor ordered

Yeah, and I will come to life

And they will say how nice to see you come to life

And I will walk through time whichever way I like

And I will not lose that which is not mine

Yeah, and I will choose a choice

And I will reach my arm out into the void

And I will iron my shirts, and I will lose my voice

Yelling all the songs that ever brought me joy (uh)

You were flying through the canyon to come get me

On Ventura I felt like Tom Petty

Looking back now and I wasn't ready

Looking back cellophane colour memory

Alchemical experiments with potions

Always seem to end in explosions

I know that I got problems I'm hopeless

But you have your moments too

You in the pool splash

That's what I'll see when I look back

Your mum's A/C was colder than a polar ice cap

I do recall that (call that)

You in the pool splash

That's what I'll see when I look back

You in the pool splash

You in the pool splash

And a little bit of sun just what the doctor ordered
And a little bit of sun just what the doctor ordered
And a little bit of sun just what the doctor ordered
Did I learn my lessons slower than I should have?
