

Just when I think I have made it through
The shadows come haunting, making me feel blue

And as I look up to the sky
All I can do is wonder
Wonder why
Distant voices screaming at me
There's something holding back, from what's supposed to be

Would you take my hand so that I'm not alone
Would you lift me up and guide me home
I'm wandering in the distance
And I am left with my mistakes
So take my hand and bring me home
Bring me home

And everyone says "Just keep hoping"
But I'm breaking any moment
I need someone to guide me through my way
Is there something? Will I finally feel okay?

Distant voices screaming at me
There's something holding back, from what's supposed to be

Would you take my hand so that I'm not alone
Would you lift me up and guide me home
I'm wandering in the distance
And I am left with my mistakes
So take my hand and bring me home

Bring me home
Bring me home

Do you feel that wind? It's taking me
Levitating through these dark clouds where it carries me
Carries me through a void where I'm so defenseless
Looking back, strike a match to light this darkness

Hahahah uarg breeeee

My demons became my best friends
And they keep pulling me under the surface
(Would you take)

Would you take my hand so that I'm not alone
Would you lift me up and guide me home
I'm wandering in the distance
And I am left with my mistakes
So take my hand and bring me home
Bring me

Now the time has come to turn the page
Let go of the shade
I will disengage