

Late Bloomer

Allison Ponthier

I never knew where to put my hands
Paralyzed and standin' complete unadjusted
I took so long to understand
Going through the emotions
A door I couldn't open

Flew under the radar
On the sidelines, in and out of frame
Like I came here from Mars
Playing by the rules in a different game

Late, late bloomer
I'm not afraid of you anymore
Late bloomer
Now that I'm awake it was worth the wait

I got strong hitting the wall
Once I broke through it I could do it again and again
Falling back isn't your fault
There's a lot of people that feel the same

Late, late bloomer
I'm not afraid of you anymore
Late bloomer
Now that I'm awake it was worth the wait

Late, late bloomer
I'm not afraid of you anymore
Late bloomer
Now that I'm awake it was worth the wait

Late to the party
The party will wait
We saved you a seat
No one is taking your place
Keep taking your time if you're on your way

Late, late bloomer
I'm not afraid of you anymore
Late bloomer
Now that I'm awake it was worth the wait
Late, late bloomer
I'm not afraid of you anymore
Late bloomer
Now that I'm awake it was worth the wait
Late, late bloomer
I'm not afraid of you anymore
Late bloomer
Now that I'm awake it was worth the wait
Late, late bloomer
I'm not afraid of you anymore
Late bloomer
Now that I'm awake it was worth the wait
