Allman Brown

I was incomplete, until I met you
You saw something in me, that I had never seen
I bought you a Neil Young CD
You made me try different food
Showed me that being angry
Wasn't the same as being strong

My darling, my darling one
My darling, my darling one

This is your love song
I wrote it just for you
Didn't try to be smart or cool
No, I just told the truth
I was blessed the day we met
I didn't know it at the time
Years go by now you're my wife
And the mother of my child

My darling, my darling one
My darling, my darling one

I keep every moment
Both the good and the bad
All our time together
The most precious I've ever had
The first room that we shared
Had a skylight in the ceiling
I still think about it sometimes
We used to lie there dreaming

My darling, my darling one
My darling, my darling one
