

Wild

Allman Brown

I have made mistakes
Been a fool sometimes
Broken promises and crossed lines
But some things I'll never regret

When I look back down the line
And I still feel your touch
Warm against my skin
From that summer light

It was wild to be by your side
Drinking all night
Putting the world to rights
Those hours burned so bright
They burned so bright
They burned so...

Now the days go so fast
Losing this and gaining that
What remains as so much falls away
Echoes of you in my head

When I look back down the line
And I still feel your touch
Warm against my skin
From that summer light

It was wild to be by your side
Drinking all night
Putting the world to rights
Those hours burned so bright
They burned so bright
They burned so...

Yeah that one sweet moment
I hold it so close to me
Again and again

Yeah that one sweet moment
I hold it so close to me
Again and again

When I look back down the line
And I still feel your touch
Warm against my skin
From that summer light

It was wild to be by your side
Drinking all night
Putting the world to rights
Those hours burned so bright
They burned so bright
They burned so...
