

Broken Light

Aloha

morning light interrupt my dreams on the verge of something i dont want to see broken light interrupt my dreams turning into someone i don't want to be i know that today's just like any other day but everything's changed

i put my feet on the ground i hope i'm leaving for the last time now i must admit i've sinned a bit i must admit i saw no end to all of it my eyes pulled wide, time is on my side this cloud of mine, the weight is gone, gone, gone life, a hole burned in the sun world is made from life, a path to find resistance i've been walking from oh i know that today's just like any other day

but everything's changed
oh i know that today's good as any other day take myself away

i must declare my soul was bare i must admit at times i wasn't even there
my eyes pulled wide, time is on my side this cloud of mine, the weight is gone

morning light interrupt my dreams time of my creation i can almost see broken light interrupt my dream guide me out of danger into your gold pull the cloud into my heart to my things and drown it out you will be my guide, i will live your life pull the cloud into my lungs take it to my toes and thumbs i will be your guide, i will live your life i must admit i've slipped a bit i must admit i saw no end to all of this

my eyes pulled wide, time is on my side
this cloud of mine, the weight is gone, gone, gone