

Ferocious Love

Aloha

when i am far from you i begin to feel a pang. the tension in and tension out. i'm longing like a fevered child. we could take a leap of faith on your bed and land as a pile of flesh. we'll stir the panic from our heads and drain it out of our limbs.

and when i dream of you, i roam around my room. i make you out of a brick wall, 'til a broken light proves my fall and then we take a leap of faith from your roof and land as a pile of flesh. ferocious love we radiate, the spirit sings and the body shakes.

so show me your mangled hand, so soft but you squeeze hard. you're soft but life's been hard. please come help overcome. wrap around me. wrap yourself around me. you'll find, you have earned beautiful and that's invincible there marching by your side. in the fight of our lives we chase away the butterflies. we don't crack skulls but find a way to get inside. who will catch the spirit? all of us, it's in the air tonight. when the fight is for our lives we'll be on top and will be all up inside.
