

Everyone's Charade

Alpha Rev

The wild bird inside my head
Will not screaming out
She must be heard, she must be heard
She must... be...

[?] our bending turns to wider lies
We must be heard, we must be right
We must...

Headline junkies hit the stage
And we place our bets
On men and women makin' up a game
Tell me what I should believe
'Cause the truth is hard to see
When it's been dressed up an afraid
It's everyone's charade

Every weapon, every word tested and virtual
You believe what you believe so you are [?]
There are no principles, no teachers here, just what I know
And so we sync ourselves into the abyssal night

And now the story starts to break
Headline junkies hit the stage
And we throw all our bets away
Tell me what I should believe
'Cause the truth is hard to see
When it's been dressed up and afraid
It's everyone's charade
Again
Afraid
Charade

It's the words we say
The words

We must all awake if we are ever going to rise
The water's hot and I am just more fuel for the fire
Well I believe that you are stronger than this ignorance
That one day there won't be a race to hide behind
And I believe that every wave can [?]
So your bottles, bring you bridges, broken halves

It's everyone' charade
Again

Charade
