Touch my hand
It's only me, listen
I'm here.

Come to stand In sultry fields With you.

And now
Old dummy day
I know
Is over this way.

I'm laughing
Saw you gonna kiss me
You see
Yeah as I said.

One day she won't A lonely bird Alone.

Judgment day
Saw the world it's gone
Unheard.

Sold the sea A lot how it feels to me.

I hate the word it's sad to see I take your weight And your heart fades away Today a renegade To lay in woods By the pheasants.

I mean it You don't Force on my head Kill our nightmare.

A lonely bird, a lonely bird A lonely bird, a lonely bird A lonely bird, alone.

Color me $\hbox{Cover me in the color that reminds you} \\ \hbox{Solemnly.}$

Could make the same mistake And you would never know That I am, that I am Alone, now.

Something, something Tells me that you Have something On, all of us now You're heaven Taking over me now Color me hate Raw little nerve Color me and pull us Only home Me home.

Hold the sun down Hold the sun down Hold the moon down Leave me to rest Want the world man Too the words out Only relief is To slip through the nets Hold a minute And stop a minute And go, oh oh Hold a minute You said to me Said to me and Breath, breath, breath, breath You said it to me Sometime later.
