

When we drift with the tide
Are we gone forever?
And when will we find ourselves
I ask my soul, but it doesn't know
All those days, endless nights
Will we live forever?
Live with doubt in ourselves
I ask my soul, but I already know

I pray my days
Will bring me solace and I'll have faith
I'll find a way
To a better tomorrow, a better today

When we fall, gain new wounds
Will we bleed forever?
When we heal, will our scars
Reveal in ourselves all that's been done?
And who are we to believe
We laugh for nothing
And will we rise in the end
I ask my soul, I already know

I pray my days
Will bring me solace and I'll have faith
I'll find a way
To a better tomorrow, a better today

I'm gonna fight a revolution
On my own
I'm gonna look them in the eye
On my own
I'm gonna read the sign

My faith, it grows
No need to question, I already know
I've found a way
To a better tomorrow, a little today

I pray my days
Will bring me solace and I'll have faith
I'll find a way
To a better tomorrow, a little today
