The Way I'm Wired

Aluna

You know I love you deep inside
But I can't make up my mind
What's you or my imagination
I'm starting to lose my patience

I combine
All the dark things that have ever happened
It's by design
And I can't shake that I feel no passion

No, I would never do anything to hurt you, babe
I would never let you go
No, I would never do anything to hurt you, babe
I would never let you go

Maybe it's the way I'm wired
I can see from every side
In circles I see dimensions
So many I miss the lesson

And I combine
All the history that keeps repeating
And by design
It's the mystery that keeps me needing

No, I would never do anything to hurt you, babe
I would never let you go

No, I would never do anything to hurt you, babe
I would never let you go

No, I would never do anything to hurt you, babe
I would never let you go

No, I would never do anything to hurt you, babe
I would never let you go