

Ash Like Snow

AmaLee

The sky is dyed a bleeding red
That's threatening to swallow the night till nothings left
The dust is settling, like snow falling
So quietly I watch the ashes fall

I see the world through the window of my grief
I never dreamed
My heart would ever freeze
And burn like fire

All of my hopes are lost in endless desolation
Flying toward the sun but my wings burn up
How did things get this way?
This world's no longer one I recognize
But I stand my ground and fight for what I love in life
Even if I break them

Oh my, I find my heart is led
To darkness so seductive and sin all talented
And it's your voice I hear that draws me near
It's robs me of my senses cold with fear

No matter what the battle rages on
It never ends
Just what did we do wrong? I'm sick of fighting

I will remain even if all the light should vanish
Even if the earth should fall away
I won't ever forget
The tiny wish I keep inside my chest
May it guide me to the place we dreamed someday

There I come for you, yeah Ash Like Snow
It's falling down from your sky
Ash Like Snow, Ash Like Snow,
Let me hear why I have to fight

And now all of my hopes are lost in endless desolation
Flying toward the sun but my wings burn up
How did things get this way?
This world's no longer one I recognize
But I stand my ground and fight for what I love in Life's not the same
(It's falling from your sky)
Maybe it's all in vain
(Baby I come for you-oo)

Every time I am cut from all the fragments of our shattered dream
I can feel I get a little stronger each time,
I've come too far so til the end, I'll continue to fight
Yeah until it breaks me
