

Courage

AmaLee

Somehow, I've gone and lost my way
All this time, I've led myself astray
By following your blinding light and fragile footsteps

Though lost, within a guideless haze
Looking for a way out of this maze
I'll never let a sole regret rain down on me

I will call infinitely
Screaming, until they hear me
Our breathtaking, endless journey starts at last
Beginning with your cue -
It's time to shine, it's waiting for you!

The world you once created inside your dreams, is brought to life
As it now leads you and I across the distant sky
We'll set out toward that steady light
And though our dreams may change
We will always keep it in our sight
Hey, so bring it on my way

Barely visible ahead
Is the hope we're searching for, you said
Although these scars are meant to heal, I'll keep them with me
At last, there's something I can gain
So for this, I will take all the pain - and more
And this alone, is all I need, it's worth the price

Know if you still feel lonely
Inside your perfect story
This sky I have brought you is only just a taste of something more
Of what's in store

Even with no end sight
And though my feet are on the ground
The wind has made me light and suddenly I feel spellbound

The world you once created inside your dreams, lives on somewhere
It's a future I would like to find and live my life
We are unique, like two bright stars
And in this world we will be loved
For who we truly are
Ah, so bring it on my way

Let's go find a new adventure
Traveling the world, though I know
In my heart, we may part separate ways

So for a little while more, can we just stay as we are?
I've put my faith in you and I'll always believe

The world you once created inside your dreams, is brought to life
As it now leads you and I across the distant sky
Our future melts into one dream
And in this miracle lies the boundary that we will transcend
Once more, it's not the end

The world you once created inside your dreams, is brought to life
As it now leads you and I across the distant sky
We'll set out toward that steady light
And though our dreams may change
We will always keep it in our sight
Till our dreams unite
Ah, so bring it on my way