

Crossing Field

AmaLee

I was never right for the hero type of role
I admit it
With my heart shivering in fear
I can see today's reflected in each past tear
Even so
It has been calling the heavens to me
But I cannot hide
All the emptiness inside
My fleeting heart

Once in my dreams
I rose and soared
No matter how I'm knocked around
Or beaten down
I will stand up, restored
All of my love has yet to wake
I know your strength is what I lack
You've got my back and now that I've got yours
I have you to thank for lighting up the dark
Because you're here with me our dreams will soar free
Forever

I wanna always be with you
I give you everything I have

I could never find the light to guide me through the night
And with one touch
I'd recall every memory
All too precious to not hold them all close to me
It's tempting to close your eyes and turn from the world
But it's bittersweet
Like you've somehow missed a beat
With no restart

When every wish has overlapped
You'll realize if you carry on with every dawn
Your hesitation fades
All of your scars will disappear
I will become your sword and shield
This crossing field's the path that we select
The promise we made will last for all our days
If it's our bonds we live by I will put my Faith in you

I only need one miracle
Can you not hear me call at all?
Until that day I'll keep screaming your name

Once in my dreams
I rose and soared
No matter how I'm knocked around
Or beaten down
I will stand up, restored
All of my love has yet to wake
I know your strength is what I lack
You've got my back and now that I've got yours
I have you to thank for lighting up the dark

Because you're here with me our dreams will soar free
Forever

I wanna always be with you
I wanna hold you tight right now
I swear that I'll be whom you chose
I'll give you everything I have
