

Goodbye for now
I thank you, loud from the bottom of my heart
There is so much more than sadness, there's more than this grief
And when I left I hope at best, I managed to convey
That in time the pain will turn to warmth as we go separate ways

I had always thought that what we had would last forever
Within my mind I painted out our days together
Calling out to your heart
Like two light's in the dark
To the fire in my soul, keep burning on

When our fates align
We will meet again it'll be a journey set ablaze
I keep having to let go of your hand for our future's sake
I'll remember you everytime the light
Shines upon a dream
I'll watch it come true
Tears falling from my eyes
Wishing to be strong for you
There's resolve woven in my goodbye

These memories, they capture me with nostalgia of the past
Every ocean in this cruel world is filled with my tears
Although I know the more I grow
The pain, it will too
I don't want to lose anything again
The way I did with you

If I gave into the darkness and the grief that's haunting me
Would that end all the pain I feel and save what's remaining
It's your words echoing
All your wishes and dreams
I will not forsake them I'll keep them safe I swear

Oohoo...

Now it's crumbling into dust and I watch it fall
It's our one and only irreplaceable dream
Our whole world

Reaching out my hand for that burning light
Wanting nothing more than to hold it close
It once shined so bright but it disappeared leaving only hope
More than happiness nothing can compare
To the dream that you had left me to hold
Now without looking back
Taking my first step alone
I'll only look ahead
Walking forward on my own
Keeping the flame within my heart always burning bright
Until I find
That distant future
