Innocence

AmaLee

The feelings I kept deep inside
Are now screaming at the top of their lungs
Trying to voice our now infinite vow

I've wandered all my life, relying on a whim
And that has led me astray
Light has become my foe, defying everything
While my future fades away

Tonight the moon invites me to the night sky
But my lips hesitate to voice a reply
But even so I'm screaming from the depths of my heart

The feelings I kept deep inside
Are now screaming at the top of their lungs
Trying to voice our now infinite vow

My strength has brought me this far but if I only had a little bit more My aim would be an endless blue sky bound by no limitations at all

And when tomorrow reaches out once again,
I'll hear its beckoning call

I'll listen to my heart whenever I'm in doubt Since it's never skipped a beat
While searching for our dreams, I'll never miss a step Because you're guiding my feet

Tonight the light that's shining in the night sky
Fills me with pain because I know I can't fly
But even so I'm still yearning from the depths of my heart

The world that was so dark around me has been transformed
By pure blinding light, always and forever shining on me

You need a dreamer's heart in order to find the sky that's waiting for you
And when the doubt inside is fading away, the sky will open for you

Inside my heart and memory you linger
I'll never let this chance slip through my fingers
You give me strength so if I feel I can't break through ..
I'll think of you

If somehow light becomes your foe
And you're once again immersed in the dark
Know that the love in your heart knows the way

The feelings I kept deep inside will call destiny to open the skies
And as the heavens call out I know I'll find the path that leads me to you

The feelings I kept deep inside
Are now screaming at the top of their lungs
Trying to voice our now infinite vow

My strength has brought me this far but if I only had a little bit more
My aim would be an endless blue sky bound by no limitations at all

And when tomorrow reaches out once again, I'll hear its beckoning call
