

INVOKE

AmaLee

We hurry past each other once again
Tearing our flesh and bones on impact
The pain in your wings you feel has no end
The same on my own back
In corrupt arms we once found embrace, they led us both astray
Our hearts had only known loneliness, we knew no other way

When we connect, both you and I
Eternity will realize
I long to see it through

Brought to the light where nothing hides
Each moment a blur in the blink of an eye
I can't win this fight this time on my own
With only empty words, like a fading wish that won't be heard
Pointless and useless alone

Despite my efforts locking them in sight
I still lose track of the stars in the night
But I know that they remain shining on Nothing can steal their light

The shine of our existence is bright, confirmed by our own lips
It's radiant and blinding with all our emotions bottled in

But is it love that lies ahead?
'Cause every sword is double-edged
The reason lost on me

Tangled within this blistering heat
The truth on lips wishing to be released
How do I protect the things I hold dear?
This feeling you held close... It's one you wished that I had known
I now understand all our tears

Brought to the light where nothing hides
Each moment a blur in the blink of an eye
I can't win this fight this time on my own
With only empty words, like a fading wish that won't be heard

Tangled within this blistering heat
The truth on lips wishing to be released
How do I protect the things I hold dear?
This feeling you held close... It's one you wished that I had known

It lies in you, strong and fierce