

Rip away the pain
Of those distant days
All the memories
Go on, set them free
Every breath you breathe
Edged in grief
Kiss them goodbye and breathe easy
Beating like a drum break through my heart with just a little love!

Gazing at the sky and waiting for tomorrow's light
I feel lost, I'm looking out for a sign
In the clouds passing by

Flocks of birds, they lift their wings and they become the wind
If I could, I'd ask them what light they find
When they soar through the skies

Hey will, will you bring me along?
And let me on your wings
That's all that I want

Can we fly and leave this world behind?
'Cause I don't think I can face 'em just yet
I don't deserve the kindness
Let's fly away and

Rip away the pain
Of those distant days
All the memories
Go on, set them free
Every breath you breathe
Edged in grief
Kiss them goodbye and breathe easy
Beating like a drum break through my heart with just a little love!

The sun sets and the flock flies off into the night
I can feel, there's a strong wind at my back
But I'm bound to the ground

Even so I won't say that I desire wings
Even though sometimes I dream I can fly
Like the Melissa leaves

I've tried, I've tried so many times
To get back on my feet
That's all that I need

Though I fight, I know it isn't right to ignore
The wind that keeps on callin'
I should be up there soarin'
Let's take a chance and

Go, unlock the door
Whatchu waiting for?
The key is in your hands
So now is your chance
Even if you're wrong

Even if it seems like all your hope is gone
Let me hear the sound of
That lock as it falls to the ground

A soul that can't be saved
Fades and drifts away
A whisper in your ear
As it disappears

Right before it's gone
It shines on this cold, dark world like a new dawn
Look to the night sky where it's shining bright beside the moon!