Rain

AmaLee

The truth in front of my eyes
Along with all these desperate lies
Fade away like they're old memories
The warmth of someone's love, I have no feeling of
All those things I don't know anymore

You told me when you left me, that I'd be fine all on my own
From your lips, you spoke one last goodbye
That look of sympathy it's nothing new to me
You would think by now it wouldn't faze me

Merciless memories
They're ringing out so unforgivingly
They show no intent of letting me go free
And if I close my eyes, and try to draw them out they only grow
They're closing in and far away you laugh

Will the rain falling down ever find an ending?
All this time I've been waiting in the freezing cold
Will the rain ever leave me alone, I wonder what it shows
To follow me when there's nowhere else I can go

This fleeting breaking morning, I wish would last a moment more
But again, time isn't on my side
I'm realizing, at last, I've been chasing the past
I've been heading in the wrong direction

You tried to give me your hand so I could start again as best I can
But I was a fool and couldn't turn to you
So far I held you back, but any moment now I know I'd crack
For all my pain is pouring down my face

Eyes like yours
Don't wanna know about a past like mine
Hands like yours
Gently brush away the tears I cry
But these scars, I know they'll only heal if I give them time
That distant future no longer seems far away

Will the rain falling down ever find an ending?
All this time, I've been waiting in the freezing cold
Will the rain ever leave me alone, I wonder what it shows
To swallow me and to take me home

These storms are into another day it's pouring on
And I watch, knowing that there is no end in sight
Here we stand hand in hand now as we look out on the world
Just one umbrella to keep us dry from the storm
