

I've grown accustomed to
The things I'll never gain
A heart beats inside of cage

The shadows of my mind
The memories
Like the voices at night

I need your blood
Just your love tonight
A starving red light
The sight and sound, prying open
I tried so hard to ignore it
But they line up side by side

Sin and life, and death and I
A pseudo side heaven
This desire calling me 's
A never-ending loop

Making all the same mistakes
A hundred times
Crumbling from all the shame inside
My throat's parched and dry
Repentance on my mind

I must be sacrificed
So can I help you all?
I'll be a scapegoat, if I can
My resolution failed
And all who died
The light of day still haunts me

You don't need to know
You don't need to go
You're waiting right here

A way for me to make it back
Some way I won't need to attack
Everything has gone so wrong

Come and break it down for me
A river will flow
You are not my enemy
I'll let you prove me wrong
You can trust me when I say
It won't be long
We're gonna see the end of night
Don't forsake me now
We haven't got the time

The fallen angels I run with all know
It's our fear that makes us all human after all
Torn old sepia photographs show
Our fragile little world
Must reject it, respond to the -
Calling, screaming inside of my soul

It's my fear of loving what's dearest to us all
Sun is fading
It will set forever...

Are you still my family? A river will flow
You are not my enemy
I'll let you prove me wrong
You can trust me when I say
It won't be long

Come and break it down for me
A river will flow
This desire calling me

Making all the same mistakes, a hundred times
Crumbling from all the shame inside
My throat's parched and dry
Repentance on my mind

The fallen angels I run with all know
