Whenever I'm alone, a voice will resonate
It says it knows the way to take away the pain
But I can see the truth;
A black hole in disguise
Hiding behind a charming smile
And sweet, caculating lies

I try to imitate the way you always speak
As if I could convince myself that nothing's wrong
But in the end I wouldn't care that it's a lie
If it can keep me strong
Then let the lie carry on

If the reality of life is we must one day meet the end
Why do we waste the time we have amenting what no one can change?
That moment when, you understand
Your final day's at hand
You suddenly see the world's beauty
As if it were taken from a dream

I only see a single destiny awaiting up ahead
I never dreamed that I would watch it fall for all eternity

Each passing day – Each single dream
They mean the world to me
And through every moment
I'm grateful I live in the same world as you

So that I don't forget
Even when I'm asleep
The dream before my eyes is playing on repeat

It's so ironic
Oh the beauty is a sin
Somebody wake me up
Before the dream pulse me in

Until the day we say goodbye
I'll stay forever by your side
And if that day may be tomorrow
There'd be no regret in me

I'll pave the way
For you who gave the colors in my heart
I want to forever remember this beautiful world you've shown to me

Red – Indigo – Water
Rainbow – Blue Sky – Every Color

I'm not a goddess, and nor will I ever be
All of my prayers, they will stay silent inside of me
And I won't worry what they all might say
Cause I know what's important
And I'm fighting for it each single day

All of my life I've only had one single wish and nothing more
When will the future I've dreamed to meet appear in front of me?

It's you who brought this loneliness to light and gave it life

You've shown me a reason to always remember that I am not alone

I only see a single destiny awaiting up ahead
I never dreamed that I would watch it fall for all eternity

Each passing day – Each single dream
They mean the world to me
And through every moment
I'm grateful I live in the same world as you
