

Star Marker

AmaLee

You close your eyes
So you can't see a single thing
Only the stars within your mind are sparkling
Upon that canvas darker than the darkness night
Reach out your hand and add a single drop of light

Lost and confused you find a small flickering dream
Where a bright shooting star falls softly down your cheek
I'll send my love to you, your tears I'll wipe away
And clear the darkness that is standing in your way

Paint over the past
We are always told we can never change
With the colors of the rainbow
We'll paint a future that glows
I just wanna see your smile

There's a wish we'll always have
Through thick and thin, the good and bad
To rise up and overcome the worst nights
In the sky, our stars align
My hand in yours and yours in mine
Side by side we will light up the night

I don't care how deep in the darkness you may be
I'll find my way to you, if you just wait for me
Within this maze I know you must feel so alone
But you don't have to hide behind a heart of stone

Turning left-turning right
I lose my way time and time again
But I'll fight a little longer
I know around this corner
Is where I will finally find you

Find a wish that you believe
It's easier than you may think
To rise up and overcome the worst nights
We can dance the night away
Just listen to the music play
Til the darkness fades and the dawn breaks

If you can't...
Seem to wake from your dream
Reach your hand out and I'll be there
If it's you, I want you to know
That I will never let go
I just wanna see your smile

There's a wish we'll always have
Through thick and thin, the good and bad
To rise up and overcome the worst nights
I don't see one mistake in this future we have made
So let's let our smiles shine from deep in our hearts

Like a shooting star that flies right
Through the stillness of the sky

I know that we have something exceptional
In that star, I will believe
There is a future that's waiting
There's no limit to this world around us
Cause our vision's expanding and endless
