

World End

AmaLee

At the world end's a light is born
And now it's only course
Is to fly free on the wind

I can't live by pretending everything's fine
I don't know why we can't heal by being kind
I've had many things stolen from me
In this hell of dull allure
But a song's forever repeating
With the colors of this world
Everything is bright

The echoing of shattered dreams
I pray it will resound
Within every day from now
At the world end's a light is born
And now it's only course
Is to fly free on the wind
So together let's begin

I can't laugh like it doesn't kill me inside
Only wish I could drown in all the tears cried
Was my victory even worth it?
All the loss makes it bittersweet
And a song's forever repeating
Like a broken-hearted scream
Everything is crying

The echoing of shattered dreams
I pray it will resound
Within every day from now
At the world end's a light is born
And now it's only course
Is to fly free on the wind
So together let's begin

Don't go. Swear to bring no one sorrow
Take your soul and guide it safely home
No matter how you slip and fall on the road
Everything is bright

If I could send the sky to you
The one I saw that day
That's the only wish I'd make
At the world's start, we watch it dawn
The beginning of it all
As we fade into the wind
Let us fly free on that wind