

There she is again
Sitting by her window
Not the first time that she's been low
Will it ever end?
'Cause she never ceases to amaze me

With the way she goes on
She tries to be so strong and yet she's
All alone in a world that doesn't care

It's an endless constant quest
Where is happiness in all of this?
Is this all that there is?
Is this all there is?

See her eyes fall
She looks in the mirror
Never satisfied
With what she sees there
Will she ever look past her own perception?
'Cause she never measures up
To the pictures in the magazines
She's never good enough
And she wonders why she cares

It's an endless constant quest
Where is happiness in all of this?
Is this all that there is?
Is this all there is?

It's an endless constant quest
Where is happiness in all of this?
Is this all that there is?
Is this all there is?

Is there more to life than this?
For a young girl crying
A young girl trying
Where is happiness?
'Cause her tears are falling
She keeps calling and calling and crawling

It's an endless constant quest
Where is happiness in all of this?
Is this all that there is?
Is this all there is?

It's an endless constant quest
Where is happiness in all of this?
Is this all that there is?
Is this all there is?