

We All Cry

Amanda Cook

The front door closed behind her
She let out a sigh
She leaned her head against it
And slowly closed her eyes
Was it worth the trouble?
She felt betrayed again
Then she saw the little note
A letter from a friend

We all cry sometimes
We all need someone who cares
We all cry sometimes
We all need someone who'll be there

Another day had ended
She headed for her bed
When she saw the little Book
With all His words in red
"I will never leave you"
She wanted to believe
That He'd always be there
And that's exactly what she needs

We all cry sometimes
We all need someone who cares
We all cry sometimes
We all need someone who'll be there

We all cry sometimes
We all need someone who cares
We all cry sometimes
We all need someone who'll be there

We all cry
It's okay to cry
So let the tears you have inside
You have inside fall, fall

'Cause we all cry, she cries, I cry, he cries, we all cry sometimes
We all cry sometimes
She cries, I cry, he cries, we all cry, we all cry sometimes
We all cry

The front door closed behind her
She let out a sigh
She knew that she could make it
With Someone by her side