

Where The War Ends

Amanda Cook

Rest, when I was cornered by doubt
And quiet, when everything was too loud
You took my hand and You led me out
I can see the dust is settled now

This is where the war ends
This is where the war ends
This is where the war ends
Leaving it in Your hands

Life, when I was staring down death
And light, when I was stuck in my head
You were sweet to my bitterness
You won my heart over with kindness

And this is where the war ends
This is where the war ends
Oh, this is where the war ends
Leaving it in Your hands
This is where the war ends
Oh, this is where the war ends
This is where the war ends
Leaving it in Your hands, yeah

Now I'm breaking the surface, taking a deep breath
Shaking off my past hurts, every single regret
Ready to trust You with all of my stories
All of my anger, all of my worries
I'm breaking the surface, taking a deep breath
Shaking off my past hurts, every single regret
Ready to trust You with all of my stories
All of the fighting, You've already done for me, yeah

And this is where the war ends
Oh, this is where the war ends
This is where the war ends
Leaving it in Your hands
This is where the war ends
This is where the war ends
Oh, this is where the war ends
Leaving it in Your hands