Hollywood Is Just a Dream When You're Seventeen

Amanda Lear

Hollywood is just a dream, when you're seventeen
Make-believe and lazy dream, you're upon a screen Life is like a magazine, when you're seventeen ahh, ahh... when you're seventeen.
Love is like a fairy tale, when you boat to sail Hell is when you're sitting home, feeling all alone
And no one cares to understand what is in your head

One day you will find life is such a lie,
when you're seventeen.

Hollywood is just a dream, when you're seventeen
ooh, ooh... when you're seventeen...
Fantasy's a make-believe, when you're seventeen,
one day you will find life is such a lie
when you're seventeen...

Maybe you're too young to die, when you're seventeen, you're also too young to fly, you're too young to sin,
no one cares to understand what is in your head.

One day you will find life is such a lie,
not a lazy dream, when you're seventeen.
Hollywood is just a dream, when you're seventeen,
one day you finded that life isn't what it seemed,
love can also be lie, it can be denied.

It's your first heartache, it's your first mistake
the end of a dream...

Hollywood is just a dream, when you're seventeen,
love is like a fairy tale, and you boat to sail,
Hollywood is just a dream, when you're seventeen,
when you're seventeen...
