

The Tide

Amber Lawrence

I should've said goodbye
I should've told you not to call
I should've walked on by
I should've known, you'd let me fall

I could've told a lie
I could've said I don't love you
I could've asked you why
Do you even know what you do

And you will let me swim from shore
Far enough so you can still see me
And when I swim too far a shore
You'll be the type that pulls me from the sea

I think you're being cruel
I think it's time you made a choice
You think that I'm a fool
But I can't take a stand when I hear your voice

And you will let me swim from shore
Far enough so you can still see me
And when I swim too far a shore
You'll be the type that pulls me from the sea

I know I'm drowning
Your pulling me under
Let me breathe

And you will let me swim from shore
Far enough so you can still see me
And when I swim too far a shore
You'll be the type that pulls me
And you will let me swim from shore
Far enough so you can still see me
And when I swim too far a shore
You'll be the type that pulls me

Why do you do this to me?
You'll be the type that pulls me from the sea
