

City Starlight

Amber Mark

New York feels alive tonight
Or is it just us

Hey

Your eyes telling me everything
But it's not enough

I need your touch

It's so surreal
Like we're right back
To the times that
We used to look out on the clouds for a sweet escape

City starlight
Show me the way
Show me the way
Back into your arms
Into your arms, your arms

Lead me tonight
Somewhere south of Sixteenth is where I belong
Where I belong

Last time we said goodbye
I needed somewhere to run
Looking for somewhere to run
There was nothing that could change my mind
But now I know you're the one
Know you're the one

It's so surreal
Like we're right back
To the times that
We used to look out on the clouds for a sweet escape

City starlight
Show me the way
Show me the way
Back into your arms
Into your arms, your arms

Lead me tonight
Somewhere south of Sixteenth is where I belong
Where I belong

Right back, I'm running to your arms
Took me a little time just to find you
Bright lights that lead me to your heart
But when you go, I'll come right back home
Right back, I'm running to your arms
Took me a little time just to find you
Bright lights that lead me to your heart
But when I go, I'll come right back home

I'll come right back home

I'll come right back home
When I'm in your
When I feel your arms
And I know and I know and I know
I'll come right back home
