

The Conqueror

Amber Pacific

What's the difference? In being different
Let's start it up we'll make them understand
What's the difference? In being different
Let's set the tone
We'll blow this up and start again

There's just so many things I wanted that I'm giving up
I felt as if I never mattered I was never loved

So please spare me the details
I've already heard them
It mattered to no one when I fell down in pieces
We're not the same, no we're never afraid to conquer the odds
It's something that we knew all along

What's the difference? In being different
Let's start it up we'll make them understand
What's the difference? In being different
Let's set the tone
We'll blow this up and start again

I guess I'm not that pessimistic, yea I'm kind of fun
The same behaviors are my saviors for not giving up

So please spare me the details
I've already heard them
It mattered to no one when I fell down in pieces
We're not the same, no we're never afraid to conquer the odds
It's something that we knew all along

What's the difference? In being different
Let's start it up we'll make them understand
What's the difference? In being different
Let's set the tone
We'll blow this up and start again

I never listened though I read it all
Another failed attempt to prove them wrong
I don't want to go back I just know that I can't face the fear of moving on, moving on

What's the difference? In being different
Let's start it up we'll make them understand
What's the difference? In being different
Let's start it up we'll make them understand

What's the difference? In being different
Let's set the tone
We'll blow this up and start again
We'll blow this up and start again
We'll blow this up and start again