Rise into the light, and set a flame to the night We must destroy the institution of fear Every shadow of doubt, grind it out! There is a vision now becoming so clear

Use your head, take control
Use your head, no gods no masters

Feel the strength from within, do you believe it's a sin To find the power lying inside your mind
Not from the cross or the gun
Not from the moon nor the sun
But rising from the very soul of mankind

We are straining at the leash!

We swear allegiance to none, be, not become There is no one upon whom praise we will shower I believe that the sin is the first to give in On the path toward the ultimate power
