Oh life has just begun

Got a temper like a gun

Pointing it at everyone

That's his game

And it helps him to get through the day

But a voice inside him says

How much longer can I play

He's got infinite possibilities
I can see them now
It's the unbroken chains of his past by which he's bound
He's got infinite possibilities
I can feel them now
If he chooses well, then nothing can tear him down

Peace of mind
Is not easy for him to find
And he's walkin' a thinner line
In a place where another man is keeping his time
Though he's young
He's not like everyone
He sees what he's become
And he'd rather be standing in the sun

With infinite possibilities Infinite...possibilities Stand in the sun and see