

The World Is Blue

American Nightmare

Still on the cross I am waiting
At crossroads deciding to stay
From a nowhere town to the center of the world
This all could collapse in a day

Hell is hot but I'm keeping cool
The fire of youth burns in a world that's blue
And if a bridge don't support our weight
First we cross it then we burn it down

Knives out in the fucking shadows
Thieves seem to seize all my days
And those who claim loyal to the grave
Will be the first to die alone

Hell is hot but I'm keeping cool
The fire of youth burns in a world that's blue
And if a bridge don't support our weight
First we cross it then we burn it down

Salvation
Salivation
Salvation
Salivation

I see the sun shining down on me
I see the sun shining down on me

We've lived our whole lives
On one road
Now we are here
Now we are nowhere
