

Redrum

Amerie

She sleep on your bones

Only go down to come up
She only go down to come up
She already won
And you're already none

Only go down to come up
She only go down to come up
And she only think that red, red, redrum

Only go down to come up
She only go down to come up
She already won
Cause she know all shes the one

Only go down to come up
She only go down to come up
And she only think that red, red, redrum

And she only think that red, red, redrum

She don't care about your feelings
She don't care about your dealings
She don't care about your crying
She be lying (but she said she did)
Called in midnight, something don't feel right
Try to remember it's tomorrow (did you think about it)

She so cold with hard life Hights
Every one knows that she don't play nice

Only go down to come up
She only go down to come up
She already won
And you're already none

Only go down to come up
She only go down to come up
And she only think that red, red, redrum

Only go down to come up
She only go down to come up
She already won
Cause she know all she's the one

Only go down to come up
She only go down to come up
And she only think that red, red, redrum

And she only think that red, red, redrum

She gon lay low in the sunlight
She gon lay under the moonlight
She gonna do all the things
That the dreams and your never did
She like the maintrap

And she don't stop

She so cold with hard life Hights
Every one knows that she don't play nice

Only go down to come up
She only go down to come up
She already won
And you're already none

Only go down to come up
She only go down to come up
And she only think that red, red, redrum

She's a mystery
Make you history
She sleep on your bones
Make you wish for regular one nights there
You're already bones
And should be drinking redrum last to be there

Only go down to come up
She only go down to come up
She already won
And you're already none

Only go down to come up
She only go down to come up
And she only think that red, red, redrum

Only go down to come up
She only go down to come up
She already won
Cause she know all she's the one

Only go down to come up
She only go down to come up
And she only think that red, red, redrum